VIVO Camp October 18-20, Butler Library, Columbia University, New York City Fall is here and the fall VIVO Camp will be held at Columbia University, October 18-20. Campers will learn the ins and outs of VIVO – data sources, information representation, project management for VIVO, tools to use to load VIVO data, and much, much more. We hope to see you at Columbia. Register here: https://conta.cc/2v93x4x

Need help with your VIVO? Several firms are available to assist with your VIVO implementation and customizations. These firms participate in the Duraspace Service Provider program and some proceeds from their work provide financial support for the VIVO Project. We deeply appreciate the expertise of these firms and their willingness to support the VIVO Project through the Duraspace Service Provider Program. And special thanks to Erin Tripp at Duraspace who manages the program. You can find the VIVO Service Providers here: https://duraspace.org/vivo/community/service-providers/
