

VIVO URLs

The VIVO Project has several important URLs. Please use these in your communication regarding VIVO:

- <http://vivoweb.org> – The project home page. Information for people new to the project. Summarized materials and version frozen downloads.
- <http://vivoweb.org/conference> – The official conference home page. Please do not use a more complex URL.
- <http://vivo.sourceforge.net> – the VIVO open community site. Several variations of this URL are being used. Please use this one – it is simple and clear. Includes the current code repository and the open community wiki.
- <https://confluence.cornell.edu/display/ennsrd/VIVO>. Members only project wiki. As we build the open community, content and attending process currently in Confluence will move to the open community site.
