Minutes

Meta analysis of sprint process

- Osman
 - Likes the new standup format. Saves time.
 - May be even more useful when there are more people on the sprint and more tickets to review
- Yinlin
 - Also likes the new format
 - More efficient
 - Would be helpful to have test cases in the tickets in advance
- Andrew
 - Still some tickets left unworked
 - Sprint was not as productive as it could have been
 - Some tickets have obvious implementations, but some require more investigation. Implementation is not always obvious at the outset
 - Large codebase and toolset, processes to learn. Takes time to get up to speed
 - Slow turnaround on questions/answers. Byproduct of IRC standups?
 - Calls and messages with Yinlin were productive; good way to avoid getting stuck on issues

Working on tickets outside of sprints

- Send out emails with outstanding tickets
- Discuss new and outstanding tickets during Fedora Tech calls
- Encourage committers to take on tickets outside of sprints

Summarize final state

- 5 tickets in review
- 1 ticket in progress
- 4 unstarted/unassigned tickets
